Land Rights: In Peru, Rainforest Foundation US (RFUS) strengthened land tenure across 990,297 acres and cut titling timelines to 8–18 months via SI-TIERRA, while launching a project to title 550,000 acres for 41 Urarina communities. In Guyana, RFUS supported the North Pakaraimas District Council's "One Block" vision to protect 2.7 million acres, including Paramakatoi Village's 625,000-acre extension request and shared forest management plans. Globally, RFUS co-hosted the First Global Congress of Indigenous Peoples in Congo with nearly 300 delegates, helping secure a commitment where at least 20% of Tropical Forest Forever Facility funding goes directly to Indigenous communities.

Rainforest Protection: RFUS scaled its Rainforest Protection efforts by training and financing over 400 community-based patrollers who monitored and protected nearly 20 million acres across Brazil, Peru, Guyana, and Panama using the tech-enabled Rainforest Alert platform.

Strengthening Indigenous Organizations: RFUS partnered with 22 Indigenous organizations across Central and South America to build administrative, governance, and fundraising capacity, ultimately unlocking over $10.5 million in direct funding to empower local forest stewardship.
